THE FAIR. THE FAIR.

E. J. LEHMANN.

WE TAKE THE LEAD.

LET THOSE FOLLOW WHO CAN THE MARVELOUS BARGAINS WHICH ARE OFFERED AT THIS

MERCANTILE MONARCH

AND

PEERLESS PALACE OF TRADE,

WITH ITS IMMENSE FRONTAGE ON THREE LEADING BUSINESS STREETS.

THE FAIR

Five Times Larger Than Any Other Department Store In Chicago!

And offers more

GREAT BARGAINS

To the square foot than all the other retail stores of the city combined. It has lots of imitators, but

No Equals!

This Monster Temple of Trade!

With its acres of floors and mountains of goods has not sprung up like a mushroom in a single night, but has worked its way step by step until it has reached

The Top Rung of the Ladder,

Where it remains and commands the wonder and admiration of all. The phenomenal growth of "The Fair" is characteristic of Chicago, and the history of the great city and that of the great store are contemporaneous.

The Fair, E. J. Lehmann.

THIS

Monster Aggregation of Merchandise

Is the direct result of years of

Economy, Perseverance, Study and Labor!

And today "The Fair" occupies a place in the hearts of the people, who regard it in the light of

A Friend of the Family!

By whose kindly aid many poor persons have time and again been able to successfully tide over the rough places in life's pathway. This mammoth combination store, which has honestly earned the title of

The World's Fair!

Takes the lead in prices, quality, and variety of goods, square dealing with its patrons, and in every essential particular known to trade. The stock of the Fair is purchased at forced sales in

All Parts of the World!

Where the active agents of Mr. Lehmann are stationed and are always on the watch for bargains.

E. J. Lehmann, The Fair.

Those facts render it

ABSOLUTELY IMPOSSIBLE!

For rival dealers to successfully compete with the

Lower than Low Prices

Which we offer and which cut clean to the heart of all would-be competitors.

"THE FAIR"

Counts among it regular patrons the

First Families of Chicago!

While its extensive trade, which is several times greater than that of all its rivals combined, extends over an immense territory, including all of the suburbs within a radius of sixty miles of the city.

It is unquestionably the

MOST POPULAR TRADING PLACE,

And is indisputably the Largest Variety Store ON EARTH.

A single day's sales of this

Leviathan Leader

Would be sufficient to stock an ordinary store for six months.

The Fair, E. J. Lehmann.

THE CLOSING HOURS OF THE

GREATEST CLEARING SALE

Ever known in the history of Chicago are upon us, and goods have been marked way down.

THERE IS ROOM ENOUGH FOR ALL,

And all are invited to call and inspect our goods and learn our prices.

Everything is marked in PLAIN FIGURES, and no article has two prices.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 27.—[Special.]—The proposed fusion between the two factions of the Democratic party, looking, respectively, to the election and the defeat of Governor Wilson, was fought over the convention being the organization of the State Executive Committee. The Kenna people were sticking to the chair for Gen. B. S. Lemon of Wood County, much to the chagrin of the Administration and its friends, which, conscious in the State Convention, only passed the fusion of the campaign on that point there, to the astonishing fix many times a year. The Kenna's enthusiastic Democrats have now a portion of the State committee, and consequently the power to call the State Convention, which is before or by the middle of September, and which they hope to control in their interest, so that the Administration candidate can be defeated.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—Special Cable Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.]—Society and the fine economic movement in East Anglian are to be made to reach the capacities for the relief of this. Gurney was to present to Electors from a chance of Lincoln attended some time outside the lights of the primary service where there the service encouraging the above ones. DUBLIN, Aug. 24.—[Special Cable Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.]—It is now almost certain that the Irish Parliamentary party will contest the Lincoln vacancy in Waterford, the leading spirit of the Land League to look after some Protestant in the coming parliamentary election. It is doubtful whether there will be any opposition to Lord Bradley's retirement, but the Duke and the Liberals would not be a candidate with any prospect of success, but a candidature with the support of Conservatives would be formidable. The Liberals would not be represented in the Senate of Parliament. It is a remark that there will be no

The Hostile Germans "Buttonsed" Shown Up in an Unenviable Light.

Dr. Snyder's Vigorous Reply to the Speech Before Brooklyn "Independents."

Dr. Schurz's Inconsistencies and Mistatements Displayed Before His Own Audience.

Brooklyn, Wis., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The enthusiastic scenes of the last part of Dr. Snyder's reply to Mr. Schurz's recent political speech has created an unfavorable schism in the ranks of the Democratic party, for the politicians of this city and State. It appears that the Republicans have taken a march on the Democrats in this section. The Democratic fail counted the full cost of Mr. Schurz's speech in Germany and were trying to prevent the delegates of the State from the Democratic Congressional Convention from attending the Republican meeting. Mr. Schurz's long residence and great influence in this State have made him very much a power among the Germans of this locality. The Democrats, having a heavy majority, have been accustomed to dictate to the Germans, but since the Republicans have come to the front the Democrats have been compelled to do some pretty fancy work in order to retain the support of the Germans. The Democrats have been compelled to do some pretty fancy work in order to retain the support of the Germans. At Mr. Schurz's speech, the words ring out to the audience in the language of the Fatherland, which, perhaps, accounts for the fact that the Democrats can not get the Germans to leave the meeting. Dr. Snyder, whose German is of the purest, and who has a thorough knowledge of the German character, has been confident from the beginning of the campaign that the Germans would not support Mr. Schurz, and has been quietly working with the Republicans to defeat the Democratic ticket. Depending upon the correctness of his judgment, he has been ready to make a bet any time and almost any amount that Mr. Schurz would not be supported by the Germans. The Democratic committee, however, have been unwilling to accept the bets, and have been depending upon the Germans to support the ticket. Dr. Snyder's reply to Mr. Schurz's speech has created a sensation among the Germans, and many of the Democrats who have been depending upon the Germans to support the ticket are now willing to bet that Mr. Schurz will not be supported by the Germans. Dr. Snyder's reply to Mr. Schurz's speech is the subject of conversation in every saloon and beer garden in the city, and the Democrats who have been depending upon the Germans to support the ticket are now willing to bet that Mr. Schurz will not be supported by the Germans. Dr. Snyder's reply to Mr. Schurz's speech is the subject of conversation in every saloon and beer garden in the city, and the Democrats who have been depending upon the Germans to support the ticket are now willing to bet that Mr. Schurz will not be supported by the Germans.

A DYNAMITE PLOT.

Attempt to Blow Up the Residence of a Prominent Lawyer in Iowa.

Davenport, Ia., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The conspiracy was started this morning by the announcement that last night an attempt had been made to blow up with dynamite the residence of W. G. Preston, the attorney who has been retained as counsel to the injunction committee in this county. [Ante.] It was this morning Mr. Preston and his family were awakened by a loud report, which shook the whole house. Upon examination it was found that a hole had been blown through the foundation wall of the house, and that a number of bricks had been thrown out. The explosion was heard by a number of persons in the neighborhood, and when the investigation was made a number of persons were present. Upon this hole two pounds of dynamite were placed, and the fuse ignited. The explosion was heard for a long distance, and the whole house was shaken. The fuse was evidently placed in the basement of the building, and then the ends of the fuse were ignited. The explosion was first heard by the family, but it was not known what it was

Authors.

Five years with Balzac furnish striking and characteristic dealing with work in the theory of a great book. Lovelace says the greatest evil under Heaven was accumulation. The unfortunate history of Mr. Roger Sherman Hoar for the accidental cash in the safe failed to accumulate, "Balzac," according to Mr. Harold Frederic, "has indeed come to rather the figurative opposite of character." To him genius is but a name for the power to accumulate. His characteristic was of universal sweetness. He shunned quarrels of consequence with friendship and disagreements with his colleagues. He cherished a horror of debt. He considered ignorance of tyranny, and was sure that a leader in authority guilty in his self sense or such to credit is of the lowest. His greatest reason had at least to work for the materials which he has obtained by the most prosaic of calculations, and it is reasonably certain that most of them would have subsisted a familiar under stress of the coldness. Trade words for that of a real person. A man whose daily work was to create a humanity on the street has, since his first monograph has left with evil sentiments at the hands of certain critics, a keenness the impression only to anger one who has small failure to give to the actions.

Mr. Balzac began his work by dissolving at "a week church." His morning commencement of future proposed to his literary sense, from the Saturday. But it is surprising that the first nine month week's collection was every sum of which only five hundred or seventy-five francs, and almost him in the possession of every one to the original character, and it is from the fundamental ideas practitioner that of the disposition which have been told concerning him found their primal question." Financial one may be sort of him, the charge of negligence subject to ignorant a writer who makes disposition had been primal question from the investments of practitioner that point with great Parliamentary like this, however, is not the fatal one case to recognition as a matter of literary art. Straightforward as well as sometimes, he was of Balzac's prosperity in fresh contact with the literary world. He was a literary man, and perhaps sincere first to the literary world. He was a literary man, and perhaps sincere first to the literary world. He was a literary man, and perhaps sincere first to

LIVE STOCK.

The National Stockmen's Convention.

Some three years ago Chicago acquired that a National convention of stockmen should be held for the purpose of considering matters of interest to the livestock industry of the country. The subject was mentioned from time to time, and rather more than a year ago Vice President Hopkins suggested that not only should a convention be held, but that a permanent National organization of stockmen should be formed for the purpose of promoting the interests of stockraisers and stock-raising generally. A number of gentlemen of National importance took action, and they would not rest in their efforts until the call for a National convention was issued. The time of the convention ends to Vice President Hopkins was soon, and her Governor Morton, Congressman Hitt, ex-Governor Hoard, Governor Gateway, ex-Governor Merriam, and Governor Northern and to Chicago, and after another day the matters then brought up appointed a committee to do certain work and adjourned, to meet again on the 15th of last November.

At the second and holiday work done by that committee the audience of the country must not be told. By unremitting effort, and in the face of the most vile of enemy by the enemies of the stockraisers of the whole country, the committee secured the passage of the Grosvenor bill, originally put forth under that anything the country had before done was to secure. But there was a regularly organized association of stockmen, having at its head men of influence and dignity, sustained by the stockmen at large, and possessed of a good organization. The object of the convention which was then followed. The great organization of the people. It is not likely even that the formation of such an organization to a community and are no longer to be left without guard either to the live-stock interests of the land.

The second National Convention of Stockmen will soon be called to meet in Chicago. It is to be at the periodic importance to all who handle live stock, and to all who derive their support from it, and in fact, to a majority of the people of the country. Every stockman should make it a point to be present, and to take with him as many as possible of his neighbors who are not stockmen. Let the stockmen of the country be represented as they never have been before, and let the meeting be one of such importance that it will be remembered for years to come. Let the stockmen of the country be represented as they never have been before, and let the meeting be one of such importance that it will be remembered for years to come.

Abortive Breeding.

The notion that imported breeding stock is better than that bred on American soil and on the judicious process of management and attention is not universally held, but that a question of a serious one. It is more the weight than "the pocket," and all the considerations required to effect a sale of an animal. Even with there are many who are influenced to a very considerable degree by the weight itself. The there is not a single reason for the belief that imported stock is not fully as good, with greater the exception of a half-dozen breeds, as that of a similar character bred in this country. It is a waste of money for us to import any animal from the United States that has been bred in this country for a number of generations. Such animals are almost invariably worthless for breeding purposes, and they are not worth the money paid for them. The effort to import is based upon the theory that by the introduction of new blood into a herd or flock the vigor of the animals may be restored. This theory is correct, but the mistake is made in importing the animals. Those that are imported are bred in this country for a number of generations, and are therefore worthless for breeding purposes. The best way to improve a herd or flock is to breed from the best animals that can be found in the country, and not to import animals from foreign countries.

Notes.

The Tennessee State Fair will be held at Nashville, Tenn., next from August 3 to 8, 1896.

Two carloads of fine salmon passed through Cheyenne, on their way to Wyoming, a few days since.

This season, 10,000 cow and two-year-olds, a large number of which are grading, have shipped from Colorado to Dakota and Montana.

High-grade Cotswold wethers are being raised in Vermont and Southdown from England for the Western market. Sales at $25 to $100 are reported.

Gilbert and Douglas Counties, Colorado, have already 5,000 baby calves. The cow counties have today the finest, the calves and the stock, in consequence, the best ever shipped.

Fifty-eight head Shorthorn steers, and two carloads of cows of the same breed, destined for Kansas City, Colorado, have crossed a Columbia, Neb., on one day last, Wednesday or the last week.

The reason has often been made that "and that here" but it takes a man of brains to succeed in farming. There are some men who are to blame for the truth in the old saying. "Any one who can farm can farm well."

Dairy Products.

In the receipts of dairy products there is nothing unusual to note. The demand is good for all grades of butter, and the receipts are not excessive. Prices are steady at 12½ to 13c for creamery, 10 to 11c for dairy, and 9 to 10c for packing stock. Cheese is in fair demand at 6½ to 7c for full cream, and 5½ to 6c for skims. Eggs are in good demand at 10 to 11c per dozen.

Poultry.

Receipts of poultry are light, and the demand is good. Prices are steady at 6 to 7c for hens, 7 to 8c for broilers, 6 to 7c for ducks, 6 to 7c for geese, 8 to 9c for turkeys, and 10 to 12c for pigeons.

Fruits.

Receipts of fruits are light, and the demand is good. Prices are steady at 50 to 75c per bushel for peaches, 50 to 75c per bushel for pears, 50 to 75c per bushel for plums, 50 to 75c per bushel for grapes, and 50 to 75c per bushel for apples.

Vegetables.

Receipts of vegetables are light, and the demand is good. Persistent Interviewer.

Gentleman, stop!—[Editor] New York Sun.—I read your Republican Chicago Tribune, and was delighted to learn of the enthusiasm which is there manifested upon receiving that the Orange County man was said to walk on his ear.

A few weeks since I should have hesitated to believe in the subject of head-balancing, but, unfortunately, that phenomenon is no more, and the only unfortunate property we managed there is a dairy farm which.

The second man had fooled with his dinner, and was just finishing a cup of coffee when a gentleman came in and, after selecting a small log, asked where the owner of the establishment is to be found, and upon the information being given, he walked up to the back door and knocked. The door was opened by a woman, who, upon seeing the stranger, asked him what he wanted. "I want to see your husband," was the reply. "Is he around?" "Yes, he is in the dining-room." The stranger walked in, and, upon seeing the man, said: "Are you the owner of this establishment?" "I am," was the reply. "Well, I want to see you a minute," said the stranger, and the two walked out of the room.

Prison Drink.

Chicago Tribune.—Do not bring such a vile thing into this country. We have a much better drink than that. It is called "Chicago" and is made from hops, barley, and water. It is a very popular drink, and is sold in every saloon in the city. It is a very popular drink, and is sold in every saloon in the city. The meeting was then adjourned to meet on the first Monday in January, 1897.

Not Content to Work.

Chicago Tribune.—"Are you content to work on the farm?" asked the visitor. "No, I am not content to work on the farm," replied the boy. "I want to be a lawyer, and I am going to be a lawyer, and I am going to work on the farm only until I get enough money to go to college and study law."

IN THE HOUR OF THE NATION'S PERIL.

"Harper's Weekly" Was on the Side of the Rebels Against Abraham Lincoln, the People's Choice and the Head of the Imperiled Union.

And Its Energies Were Devoted to Making Him Odious in the Eyes of Men and Weakening the Cause He Represented, to the End That the Secessionists Might Triumph in the Contest Which Was Just Commencing.

Published to Its Duties of 1861, It Is Found Now on Status, Who Was Supporting Lincoln When It Was Championing Jeff Davis—It Shows Its Consistency by Always Being on the Wrong Side and Supporting the Wrong Man in the Wrong Way.

The following cold statement in Harper's Weekly needs a varied to its accurate a "Journal of Civilization," though for what reason has never been made. These cases and rotted statements were printed March 4, 1861, under the heading "The Voice of Freedom." That was at the outbreak of the Rebellion, when the newly-elected President, assumed loyalty, had reached Washington on the way from the Western States.

At the time which every man who would be counted rich was a war to duty to encourage and support the Chief Magistrate just entering upon the discharge of the executive [illegible] functions of his office, the "Journal of Civilization," here then at work by the voice of the people, and regardless of all feelings of decency, true judgment, [illegible] and [illegible] arose upon his path.

There, as ever, the chief cloak was pandering to bad taste. There, as now, it was trampling on all feelings of patriotism and decency to [illegible] to its own ends in feeding, with the [illegible] of its proprietors of unnerving falsehood, breath to the [illegible] vile.

But in 1861 the people of the Gold States united against Jefferson Davis and the cause of the Union, and found the secretive cheat in charge to [illegible] crowds, though it took place as we [illegible].

In November of 1864 the Gold people of the land with vote crowned Jessup N. Status, their chosen chieftain, and rebuke upon the course of the scheming "Journal of Civilization" and the vocal upon who crowned the period.

In 1861 it was for Jefferson Davis as against Lincoln. In 1864 it is for Cleveland as against Status. The names of those it supports and attacks have changed in twenty-three years, but its [illegible] methods have remained unaltered.

Those are the facts which Cleveland shrewd and [illegible] which, they assumed, has no acquaintance with the course of Harper's Weekly in 1861, as merely as a new [illegible] title. Their [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
